TURNER CLASSIC MOVIES

Capture your Classic Fame re-creation

AD Health & Safety were approached to assist Turner Classic Movies (TCM) with the re-creation of the iconic street dance scene from Fame. This was done to support TCM's screening of the film Fame on Friday 30th July at 9pm.

We were involved from commencement of the planning process and advised on the suitability of several London locations before finally settling on Clifton Street EC2. This had the right balance of space and feel, as well as meeting all of our event safety criteria.

Further support was given by ADHS in the production of safety documentation, selection process for extras, liaison with the film crew and statutory authorities.

Filming and rehearsals took place on Sunday 12th July with Denise Van Outen taking the lead with a cameo appearance by Jonny Vegas. Supporting them were 70 professional dancers and 400 extras.

The media response was overwhelming with the story running the next day in most national newspapers. The re-enactment can be seen on the TCM website with the documentary on the making of the stunt being shown on TCM at 8.30pm on 30th July 2009.
